Domus Project

In correlation with the LaserSat antenna system, the Domus Project consists of the installation of server units in horizontal property buildings, and the interior laying of optical fibers.

In this way, the users' computers are limited to updating the peripherals, with the server receiving all the information load.

This makes it possible to greatly expand electronic services to consortium members, making it possible to carry out all procedures and purchases from home.

Among the novelties would be that the refrigerator computer issued the order for the purchase of food directly to the farm in the fruit and vegetable belt, so that it would send the green pack with all the provisions for the week.

En correlación con el sistema de antenas de LaserSat el Proyecto Domus consiste en la instalación de unidades de servers en los edificios de propiedad horizontal, y en el tendido interior de fibras ópticas.

De esta forma las computadoras de los usuarios se limitan a la actualización de los periféricos, siendo el server el que recibe toda la carga de información.

Esto permite ampliar enormemente los servicios electrónicos hacia los consorcistas, haciendo posible realizar todos los trámites y compras desde el hogar.

Entre las novedades figuraría que el ordenador de la heladera emitiera la orden para la compra de alimentos directamente a la granja del cinturón frutihortícola, para que esta enviara el pack verde con todas las provisiones para la semana.
